

2022 Fistful of Flowers

Hopefully by now this wine doesn't need much of an introduction as I think it may be safe to say it has reached somewhat of a cult status.

That said I'll keep this very brief. I think this year's version is another absolute beauty !

Moscato Giallo & Vermentino grown by the Chalmers family on the slopes of Mt Camel in Heathcote, Victoria and a small portion from their Merbein vineyard further north. It was a great season and fruit this year was of a very high quality when it came off the vine which has resulted in a very well balanced wine.

Long steady ferments in 100% stainless, approximately 3 weeks on skins, pressed, aged in stainless. Racked only once prior to bottling.

An expressive whack of florals on the nose, perfumed stone fruits, musk and spring blossoms. The palate being pretty much the antithesis of this. Fresh and pure with a cool slated steeliness and a fine salinity to keep it all together.

The reason this wine is so reasonably priced has nothing to do with quality or how much care and detail goes into making it. It is the fact alone that I wanted to have an entry level wine that people could afford to consume. This is important. Especially in these times..

Wine for the people !
